The Florida State Fair

Held annually at the Florida State Fairgrounds in Tampa, Florida. The official state fair of Florida, it includes indoor (Home Show), Outdoor exhibits (Cracker Country) plus rides and shows. It is a chance for the state to showcase its agricultural industry. The Fair also offers competitions and food oddities such as chocolate covered bacon & buffalo chicken chimichanga.

Cracker Country

is a living history museum of rural Florida, and Florida Cracker culture features thirteen original buildings dating from 1870 to 1912 and is staged for the year 1898. [1] The buildings were moved to their present location from throughout the state and have been restored and furnished with antiques of the period. [The setting is even more realistic with heirloom plants, heritage livestock and skilled artisans performing the chores and crafting the necessities required as the seasons and family changed. Interpreters of living history converse with guests and answer questions.]
